

CHINA TELECOM INDIA LAUNCHES CLOUD SERVICE

(Hong Kong, 26 November 2015) China Telecom (India) Private Limited (“China Telecom India”) hosted “China Telecom India Cloud Service Launch” presentation. Over 100 Chinese enterprises participated in this event and one of the highlights of the event is the keynote speech delivered by Mr. Cheng Guangzhong, Minister Counsellor, Embassy of the People's Republic of China in India.

“We proudly launch cloud service in India to provide safe, convenient and quality cloud computing services, helping Chinese enterprises to tackle IT deployment problems in the new era. With the cloud service, we can provide new development impetus and create new opportunities for Chinese enterprises in international expansion.” said Mr. Alen Wang, Managing Director of China Telecom India.

China Telecom India is committed to enhancing service quality. With the availability of "private cloud + public cloud" hybrid cloud services, customers can enjoy flexible deployment and acceleration in IT requirements. The security of cloud services also commands top priority. The professional system management and disaster safety plan all ensure credible and reliable cloud services. In addition, 7x24-hour customer service in Chinese language is available.

Mr. Wang further added, “We are investing into the cloud-based resources in the core regions and key countries in Asia Pacific, Europe and America in relation to the Belt and Road Initiative. We are committed to building an ecosystem that fosters win-win cooperation and open collaboration, and we partner with world class players in offering cloud computing products and services to the Chinese enterprises expanding overseas.”
